PATCHER BUSINESS MANAGER

Victor J. Mariani, '39

For the Saturday's crowd who stay at home for a pleasant evening we are showing "Wells Fargo."

PATCHER MEN ELECTED

Juniors D. O'Connell
And V. Mariani
New Leaders

Daniel J. O'Connell and Victor J. Mariani, of the Junior Class have been elected Editor and Business Manager, respectively of the 1939 "Purple Patcher," the Dean's Office has officially announced. These two will direct the destiny of the year-book of the class of '39 as a result of their selection by the members of their class in the recent election for these important positions.

O'Connell hails from B. C. High where he was President of the Class Debating Society and Dramatic Club the first time in the history of the school that one man held all three positions. A well known campus figure; Dan was president in his first and second years at College and has been especially prominent in Debating Society both as Secretary and

MEEHAN CHOSEN TO LEAD PURPLE KEY FOR '39

Rev. John F. Cox, S.J. has officially announced the selection of Thomas J. Meehan, Jr., '39, as Chairman of the Purple Key for the year '38-'39 as a result of the elections held by the Junior Class last Friday. Meehan is a graduate of Hope High School, Providence, R. I., and the Treasurer of the Class of '41. He has been a Purple Key member for two years and has served as cheerleader in the past football season. The Sodality and the Italian Academy claim him as a member, and he has been very active in the Dramatic Society and the Playshop. Meehan succeeds Jim McHugh to whom the success of the Purple Key in the past year is largely due.

Glance at the Key activities since September.

Many were the baffled and worried Freshmen who came to Mt. St. James the opening day. Their worries and astonishment were quickly tossed aside when members of the Purple Key met them and set them off on the right foot. Perhaps this spirit of co-operation and willingness to help

FORTY DOLLARS TO FROSH

Chairman James R. Morriss, '38, took three envelopes from his pocket containing some thirteen odd dollars each, unfolded the judges' ballots than proceeded to hand the envelopes to the Freshman team.

This happy event, for '41 at least, took place about nine P. M. last Tuesday, March 1. The topic, "Resolved, That this house favors the Ludlow Amendment," formed the basis for the discussion. The affirmative, Leo H. Leary, Edward C. Maher, and John J. P. Wilkas representing the Sophomores, took what facts there were to be found in favor of the amendment Congress has already rejected, and built up a very strong case, explaining that the people who are the sufferers in war should be the final judges.

The freshmen, David F. Carroll, Raymond J. Page, and Vincent O'Rourke assailed the affirmative stand by pointing out that Congress, representing the politically trained minds of the people, were best fitted to resist propaganda, and by making the decision themselves to strike the enemy without delay. When the clash of rebuttal arguments had thrilled a rather large Kimball audience, the judges, Mr. Henry E. Manning, Esq., Holy Cross, '15, Mr. James J. Marshall, Holy Cross, '26, and Mr. Henry C. Walsh, Esq., Holy Cross, '15, decided unanimously in favor of the negative.

Promsters who wish to have pictures of their guests in the PROMHAWK are invited to place them with Tom Moriarity, Beaven I, Room 9 before 9 P. M. March 18th. All who wish to submit short stories, essays, poems, kindly see as soon as possible the Editor, Beaven II, Room 32.

MARIANI DISCOURSES TO ITALIAN GROUP

For the last few sessions, conversational Italian has been the order of the meeting. Vic Mariani, Prexy of the Club, gave an interesting and well developed talk on the use of adjectives, the possessives, and the article.

A practical lesson in Italian, enacted by Ed Healy, '39 and George Curley, '41, proved enlightening, since this type of dialogue is a new innovation in the Club.

others is the by-note to the success and popularity of the Key.

With the advent of fall, thoughts on the campus turned to football. Here again we see the Purple Key (Continued on Page Three)

JUNIORS AND SENIORS CLASH MARCH 18

Father O'Mahony announced today the results of last Thursday's trials for the annual Senior-Junior Prize Debate. The Senior Class will be represented by Connie Akstens, Frank Vaas, and Charles Collins who will present the negative argument to the question: "Resolved, That the Federal Minimum Hour Maximum Wage Bill is for the best interests of all the people. John Daunt, Joseph Lowther, and Dan O'Connell will debate for the Juniors. The debate will be held March 18th in Kimball Hall.

NOTICE

The annual oratorical contest will be held on Wednesday evening, March 30th, at eight o'clock in Kimball Auditorium.

The tryouts for this contest will be held in Fenwick Hall on Tuesday, March 15th.

Students wishing to enter the oratorical contest should submit their names to the Registrar's office before twelve o'clock noon on Wednesday, March 9th.

For the trial contest each contestant should prepare an original speech of five minutes duration.

FOURTEEN SOPHS ADVANCE AS MEMBERS OF NEWS BOARD

Assume Former Duties
Of Newly Promoted
Junior Editors

In the final appointments of the year the TOMAHAWK announces the selection of fourteen sophomeres to constitute the new News Board. This group, the largest selected in recent years, has assumed the positions vacated by the recently appointed editorial board of the TOMAHAWK. Selected because of their service for the past year and a half as reporters on the paper, the new members are a group that has been exceedingly active in extra-curricular activities on the Hill.

The duties of the News Board are to assist the Editors in the Monday evening rush for the "Dead-Line." They will continue as reporters on

DEAN COX ADDRESSES SENIOR CLASS

Commemorating the feast-day of St. Thomas Aquinas, the Aquinas Circle presented its Annual Seminar in Kimball Hall Auditorium yesterday morning.

Rev. John F. Cox, Dean of the College spoke at the close of the Seminar on the lack of and a need for a solid secular education in our schools.

John E. Newman, president of the Circle opened the discussion with a dissertation of the crying need in the world today for the application of the principles of Thomas Aquinas. Robert Zintl and Vincent L'Esperance delivered essays and were the principle speakers of the seminar. James J. Morris, John Graham, Raymond Hart and John O'Neli were the speakers

C.U. Visits College For First Time

The Holy Cross Varsity Debating Society will be the host of Catholic University this evening at eight o'clock in Kimball Hall. The question to be discussed is: "Resolved, That isolationism is impracticable for the United States in the modern world." The affirmative side of the question will be upheld by Catholic University's team which is composed of Walter Donovan, '40, of Little Falls, N.Y. and William Murphy, '38, of Bristol, Conn. The negative side — George Hayer, '38 and John Daunt, '39.

in the first disputation and Francis Vaas, Richard Bishop, James Bogue, and Raymond Swords spoke in the second disputation.

BOUVIER HAS ANOTHER WIN

The ever cheerful and dynamic leader adds one more triumph to his long list of successes and once more we see Professor Bouvier instilling another group with a personality that we "Hill toppers" claim is "tops."

The concert opened with a prelude of campus melodies by the combined clubs. The Philharmonic then followed with "Finlandia," the tune poem by Jean Sibelius, which melted into the Glee Club's rendition of the "Hunting Song," "Indian Summer," and "Lift Thine Eyes." The orchestra then dipped into the semi-classical to give its interpretation of the popular "Park Avenue Fantasy," with Robert Quinn and Joseph Bier in solo parts. The singers again took the stage with Victor Herbert's "Italian Street Song" from "Naughty Marietta." Concert Master Piotrowski furnished a violin background for the vocal selection.

Prof. J. Edw. Bouvier

The intricate work of Richard Wagner's "Overture to Rienzi" provided a fitting entrance into the second part of the evening's performance. The Glee Club followed with Vittoria's "Ave Maria" and "One Who Has Yearned Alone" by Tschaiakowski and Riegger.

Then the momentous minutes of the evening arrived. Holy Cross' own Yehudi Menuhin, Woodrow Piotrowski stepped into new glory with his "Gypsy Airs," by Sarasate. Repeated salvos of applause brought him back with two works of Fritz Kreisler — the "Les Preceinses" and the lovable "Liebesfreud."

STUDENTS NOVENA OF GRACE BEGINS

The annual Novena of Grace, in honor of St. Francis Xavier, began Friday evening under the direction of Rev. Joseph Sullivan, S.J., Dean of the Department of Chemistry.

This annual Novena is regarded as one of our most efficacious means of obtaining Grace and it is doubly worthy of serious attendance this year, coming at the beginning of the Lenten season.

Thus far in the Novena Father Sullivan has spoken on personal appearance and the preciousness of time.

"WHISTLING IN THE DARK"

Under the competent direction of Joe McManus the production "Whistling in the Dark" by Edward Childs Carpenter and Laurence Gross is making rapid strides. Not long ago this play appeared for a period of eight months on Broadway, starring Claire Trevor, Edward Arnold and Ernest Truex. The drama will be ready for presentation sometime in April.

The theme of the production is more or less a "mystic" comedy promising to be a "hair-raiser" and "spine-tingling" to the end. It seems that a certain Wallace Porter, a crime novelist, stumbled into a "for sale" house only to find himself in the nest of a bunch of high pressure "stick up" men. In an effort to get him to leave they give him a drink and try to hint him out, but the liquor serves only to loosen his tongue. He brags about his perfect crime and boasts that he can murder without leaving a clue. Then and there the chesty little author is locked up and told to get busy—he must either produce a way to kill the Crime Commissioner or forfeit. From this point on the play is violently funny. It isn't fair to give the show away, but we'll say that he conceives a swell plan and then thinks up another to thwart it. You'll enjoy this "thriller" novel.

Cast of the play:

Herman Lefkowitz	William Richardson
Toby VanBeuren	John J. McCardle
Charlie Shaw	Joseph Lowther
Wallace Porter	Thomas Power
Jake Dillon	Constantine W. Akstons
Joseph Salvatore	Leo S. Callahan

What a coincidence: Tom Fitzgerald and Nick Horrigan both lost their ontology books two days before the First Paper!

Gems from the Novena: Are you a welfare boy, are you one of the radiator boys, one of the reflector boys?

Tommy Dorsey (asked whether or not he expected to return to Worcester again this year): "Yes, sir, I have high hopes of playing at one of those Holy Cross formals later on this year."

Incidentally, both Eddie O'Melia and Tommy Donlon were seen in friendly converse about something or other with "Swingster Tommy."

Leave it to Pete Gallagher: Pete received an answer from his girl friend explaining how sorry . . . she was that she would not be able to accompany him to the Junior Prom. The name of Pete's girl friend is—Carole Lombard!

According to Joe Frank, Noah was the greatest financier the world has ever known, because he floated his stock when the rest of the world was liquidated.

It did happen here: Ed Wollam served Mass last week! Charley Masterson had his very first "date" at the Purple Key dance. You're off, Charley.

Henry Koch, "Nothing is a blown-up balloon with its skin peeled off."

Give him a big hand, fellows: Willie Turnesa is keeping away from all desert, shows, and girls during Lent. There's a kid with fortitude.

Ya can't beat Seymour: Seymour "Fish" McLean hit 145 for a single string in the bowling tournament Saturday. "I had an off day," said "Fish."

Johnny Murphy, "Is this Paul Dowd or old age creeping up on me?"

member of Varsity Team. Lecture debating too, has been included in his list of activities. He has acted as judge as well as a contestant in many a debate away from the Hill. He has just been selected as one of the three Juniors to represent his class in the Senior-Junior Prize Debate. The K. of C. has seen Dan as an active member and he is a member of the Greater Boston Club.

Vic Mariani is richly deserving of this post as Business Manager of the Patcher. As an indefatigable worker, Vic is noted for his ability in business lines as well as student activities. He is a graduate of St. Francis Xavier High School, in New York City, where he lives. He is a member of the Purple Key as well as the Business Staff of the TOMAHAWK. He was elected President of the Italian Academy this year, and appointed a member of the Junior Prom Ticket Committee. Vic has always been prominent in the Mission Crusade and is an officer in the Sodality. He had an active part in the Freshman reception this year, is a member of the Knights of Columbus, and has been a consistent member of the Dean's list since his coming to the Hill.

Frosh Win Honors In M.I.T. Debate

Win Decision In Return Engagement At Boston Institution

The Freshman Debating team opened its intercollegiate season last Thursday night, March 3, by scoring a decisive triumph over the forensic representatives of Massachusetts Institute of Technology with the Techmen playing hosts to the Holy Cross speakers. Arthur Garrity, Francis Fox and William Richardson of the Cross defended the negative side of the proposition, "Resolved, That the National Labor Relations Board should be empowered to enforce arbitration in all industrial disputes." Rev. Arthur McCarthy, S.J., Associate Professor of English, accompanied the debaters in the capacity of Faculty Advisor.

Leon Crane, of Philadelphia, Pa. was the initial affirmative speaker. He was followed by Stanley Baker of Dorchester, Mass. and Paul Erlandson of Cleveland, Ohio. Mr. F. M. Jope, affiliated in an official capacity with the Institute, acted as judge for the contest. Nicholas Shoumatoff, '38 presided as chairman. The debate was followed by a dinner tendered to both teams.

The victorious negative centered their attack on the principle of Compulsory Arbitration, with less attention being paid to the attack on the National Labor Relations Board itself. Charging that Compulsory Arbitration is objectively unnecessary, injurious and impracticable and also asserting that such a Board of men would not be fit to legislate in industrial disputes even if such a power were granted to it, the Cross speakers presented a case with which the engineers were unable to cope.

Both Garrity and Fox are day-students and residents of Worcester, Mass., while Richardson hails from Brooklyn, N. Y.

ODE TO THE DEDICATION TO HIS HOLINESS, PIUS XI

Delivered at the Annual Seminar of the Aquinas Circle,
Holy Cross College, March 7, 1938

By WILLIAM J. GRATAN, Jr., '38

Pius (Eleventh of the name that trace
Your ancient lineage to the Christ on earth),
Servant of God, Shepherd of His far-flung flock,—
To thee and to the Truth Whose voice you are,
We dedicate our youthful strength, our eager hearts.
Prophet of his peoples, who from Peter's throne
Gives to the world new hope and a rebirth;
Who points, sad-eyed, to the shackled hands
Of present Justice and her train of good,
And then to Charity, which alone
Soothes the rough hurt that even
Justice in her measured might can make:
The loving company of man's own brotherhood
From bravely fortress to the weakest lands.
(The words of Christ are on your lips;
His love is in your heart!)

Behold, his awful cloak is wrapped about
This man, this woman, and this child,
And see his arm, God-like in its strength,
Is raised against the clutch of avarice:
Let all the princes of the nations fall
Prone, and at Canossa make their peace!

While chained peoples chanted their vague litany
Of sombre hope and the rewed sword,
While brother plundered brother
And lame countries knelt wailing by the sea,
Sounded this silver trumpet call
Reechoed even in the hearts of misery,—
When Quadragesimo dipped into the wells of Truth
And in the midst of darkness that grayly swirled,
Glimpsed new-found stars that chimed
Rebirth to Faith and Love and Charity,
Which in a present, mocking world
Stand alien as in the field stood foreign Ruth.
Traced in glowing letters on the page
Thoughts that shaped the Age of Faith,
That came a flaming scimitar from Aquin's quiet town,
Which traced the golden track of wisdom sage
Even to the hilly cloistered place
That first saw Truth in its shrouded form.
The fluted columns of the Parthenon,—
With Peter's sunrise dome,—restored to grace
With silent triumph
The arches of a Christian, marshalled Truth.
(The words of Christ are spoke to us;
Let His Love shine in our hearts!)

MEEHAN, '39 LEADS KEY

with spirit as its dominating purpose. Cheer-leaders were chosen from their members and rehearsed at length. After the selection of cheer-leaders, came the task of infecting the student body with the same brand of spirit and enthusiasm that the Key radiated. Their effort were a complete success as was shown at the rallies and games when the "Hoiah's" were heard from Packachoag to City Hall.

Speaking of the rallies, little do we realize the work that was entailed to put on those Friday night shows. The endless search for interesting and appropriate talent was rewarded with the best in the world of sports and entertainment. For a concise example of the task which the Key took upon itself can be seen when they procured the boxing ring. The fellows had to cart it from town, set it up, tear it down after the show and return it before 8 o'clock the next morning. The money and time put forth were amply rewarded when the rallies were so well received by the students. That was all that the Purple Key asked. Again we see this spirit of giving freely for the sake of other's pleasure. These qualities show just what manner of fellow the Key embraces, it shows what we already know, they're the very best we have.

After the football season, the Purple Key ushered plays, debates, and lectures. Only recently they presented the "Freshman Reception." This tradition they have preserved and given new life and vigor, and this year's performance was the peak of all the receptions which have ever graced Fenwick Hall. Here again the hand of its chairman, Jim McHugh, was felt with the result that the Freshmen will look back upon that Tuesday night for many a year.

A week ago Friday, the Key ran its dance. This social get-together showed not only the good taste of the organization, but also its appreciation of a need for an outlet to the non-scholastic wishes of the student body. This dance could also be taken as the last gesture of the group of seniors who had run the Key during the past year, and we may say that its last gesture was one of its best and most pleasant.

The Purple Key is a concrete symbol of many of the finest traditions of Holy Cross—its democracy, its enthusiasms, and its camaraderie. These traditions the Key hopes to clarify, solidify, and perpetuate for the succeeding generations of Holy Cross men. Its keynote is service. It wants to arouse love of the school, to raise enthusiasm for the school's glories, to call forth student support for her athletic teams, and to make the four years of actual life here on the Hill a rich experience and a fertile field of memories for the rest of life.

For the past three years the destinies of this organization have been guided by one whose ideas have been the fountain head of the successes, and whose ideals have been an inspiration to all past, present and future keysters. His able assistant has devoted many hours, energy, and enthusiastic encouragement. To Father Mears and Rev. Wm. Donaghy, S.J., the student body is most grateful. To the seniors who soon will bid a fond adieu to active work in the Key we are thankful. To the new chairman we say, carry on the tradition.

RED AND WHITE

"The University Federation for Democracy and Intelligent Freedom." Sounds very impressive. What has it done? It has just endorsed an open letter of one hundred and fifteen "educators," who are up in arms because the Editor of the Atlantic Monthly has said a good word for Franco and Catholic Spain. These devotees of "intelligent freedom" view with alarm Franco's apathy to educational projects and point with pride to the fact that four thousand five hundred and eighty-seven Loyalists learned to read and write in one month at the front. Considering the time that it took most of us to acquire these accomplishments, we can only bow to Red genius.

We wonder, however, if there can be any connection between this latest outburst from the parlor pinks and the news that came over the ocean last week to the effect that White Spain has just rescinded the law of 1931 which made divorce legal for the first time in Spain.

The parlor pinks do not care for that. They kicked when Ireland's new constitution denied recognition to the status of divorce. They must have muttered in their beards when Russia tightened up on its divorce laws.

They can't see — or they won't see that they have hitched their wagons to a falling star. Nineteenth century Liberalism is dead and is slowly but inevitably being borne to the grave. Their god has been overthrown, and the last to recognize the fact are these vestal virgins trying desperately to keep alight the flame of "intelligent freedom."

"Intelligent freedom," for them, of course, is freedom to defy the laws of God, whether natural or positive. They stubbornly refuse to admit that you can't run a world in defiance of the plan of its Maker.

If divorce is against the natural law, as it is, then no community can long defy the law of nature by making divorce attractive to its citizenry, without accepting the consequences. It did not take Russia many years to find out that you can't have a nation without families. And everybody knows that with divorce, family life is a forgotten dream.

Yes, nineteenth century "liberalism" is dead. If, as Waldemar Gurian says, "Nazism is the twentieth century model of the same machine," then it would behoove the honest believers in intelligent freedom, among whom we are modest enough to include ourselves, to spend every effort to seek that freedom within the framework of the plan laid down by the Supreme Architect, Who is also the Supreme Legislator, Who said, "What God hath joined together, let no man put asunder."

By John Charles Hanahue, '40

We do not have the occasion to prowl around hotel lobbies, gangster hang-outs, Dead End, sweaty gymnasiums, the Twentieth Century Club, the water fronts, or breeze through dance halls and bar rooms for our script. The books give us such a cuffing that we stay this side of the gate and usually this side of the door. And then our blowing the gaff about the nation's dandies and the big city trigger-men would be out of place in such a quiet spot as Packachoag. Our Main Street is an arborescent lane, our lobby is only used on Sunday afternoons and some evenings. We have a water front but we're not bragging about it, and as far as we know the CIO has not as yet got it under control. Our gym is a modest thing with roof walls and a polished cellar floor on which we roll balls in an effort to win the bowling league. There are few "pugs" around this athletic shack though I'll bet that I have seen four or five black eyes sporting in and out the doors. The pushing, shoving, gambling mob of the big league park hasn't even a reflection in our modest gatherings on Fitton Field. The "Yales and Harvards" do not meet their equal or at least their unsung and unlabeled rival for New England pigskin fame when the Saturdays' thousands push the peanut men and score card boys to one side in the rush for seats at two o'clock in the Fall. We have no blinds or pawnshops but there is a college book shop. Coppers and G-men are not necessary for "order" on the Hill . . . there is one law and one judge and no snooping around the Court, except for out-permissions. The grapevine is very efficient but the messages are generally spurious, cock-eyed, or poorly knocked together, at times not even the Faculty are convinced of their truthfulness. We are definitely not between the Devil and the deep blue sea, when we try to punch through this page. The fire is in the frying pan and we're in the fire and the pan is in the ocean and the whole business is a devil of a job but we'll pull through as long as we have you.

We were even. No, we won by seven points. They were undefeated too. I thought we could knock them off. Are you sure of the score? Aw, cut it out. We couldn't have won by seven points. The score was 32 to 25 and that makes a difference of seven points. We were 32? Yes, because we won by seven points and they were 25. Well I guess they lost. Sure they did. We won. I thought they would win but we got the seven points. And they were undefeated. It would have been tough if it were even. Yup, I'm glad we won. That makes ten losses and one win. I'm glad we won, aren't you. Yah, I'm glad. The good old Dorm. Lights out. Ya, that's right. Big test tomorrow, we'll see you at Mass. Murmur mur— mur—

By Hugh Hayes Harlow

For the first time since this column became a weekly feature, music makes its entry, and what more appropriate than that our first squib should be about the musical clubs of Packachoag. Last week's presentation of the annual home concert has ceased to be news, but there are memories of it that persist.

The laurel of the evening we hand unequivocally to the sophomore prodigy, Woodrow Piotrowski, who, we dare say, makes his violin sing as sweetly as anyone of equal experience. In the crescendo of his first number, one of his bow strings broke and caught in the bridge, and the undaunted way in which he unhesitatingly continued through to the conclusion of his piece deserves a good sound clap on the back. His third offering, Kreisler's "Leibesfreud," drew a tumult of applause, and he probably would be playing still if his modesty hadn't set two encores as the limit. Next best, we would say, was the Philharmonic's presentation of Wagner's "Overture to Rienzi." Thank heaven for a relief from swing music!

Last Tuesday night, we tramped up Cambridge street to see the Clark Players' production of "Twelfth Night." It would seem a bit presumptuous for any amateur theatrical group to try to produce a Shakespearean drama with two weeks of rehearsal; yet that is what was done. The chief criticism is that it was horribly a bit unfinished and it would take a lot of condiment to make that particular dramatic meal palatable.

The best character in the show was Sir Toby Belch, and although his drunkard was much better than his antithesis, he stole the show. Olivia was passable, good-looking, overacted her soliloquy. Maria, Olivia's woman, played her part well on the whole, occasionally overacted. Feste, the clown, didn't make as much out of his lines as he might, but his gestures were humorous and helped him out considerably. Though done in a hurry it was a good try.

"It is well that the author is making these volumes, published originally as a digest of lectures for students of philosophy at Holy Cross College, accessible to a larger reading public."
—America.

"The amount of matter included in these texts is noteworthy. Students completing the two volumes will have passed a fairly active two-semester course and may feel that they have practically all the essentials and details that a course in Scholastic Ethics can offer."
—Modern Schoolman, May, 1930.

"Father Sullivan has presented his theses in syllogistic form. This adds greatly to the value of these volumes both in the classroom and in the hands of students."
—Catholic World, November, 1930.

"I like your orderly arrangement and method in treating the subject and find your books very useful."
Rev. John F. Wilson, O.S.A., Villanova College, Villanova, Pa.

"This last definition, gentlemen, I take from the 'Special Ethics' of one of your neighbors, Rev. Joseph Sullivan, S.J., professor of Ethics in Holy Cross College, a book which, by the way, I take the liberty to recommend to you. . . I feel sure that you read that book you will admit that you will have been helped to think more clearly and more helpfully on what is right and wrong in all these domains."

Professor Louis J. A. Mercier, A.M., Litt.D., Harvard University. (From an address delivered before the Springfield, Mass. City Club.)

"The exposition is uniformly clear and the arguments well sustained."
—Ecclesiastical Review, October, 1930.

"We are finding these volumes very satisfactory for the senior class in philosophy as a text book."

Rev. Frank J. Monaghan, College of St. Elizabeth, Convent Station, N. J.

Frederic O. Floberg

Dear Mr. Floberg, I think that your column is the best in the TOMAHAWK. Try to keep it in its respected position.

N. Bonaparte,
Worcester Sanitarium.

From the Los Angeles Collegian comes the superb enthymeme: Everything in the world is passing. I am in the world. Therefore—

From Niagara U. we learn that the college student is too honest to steal, too proud to beg, too lazy to work, and that's why we have to give him credit.

Now we know what it is. The Alabamian explains all; an optical illusion: I think I see a letter in my box.

Collegians have found a defender in a professor at the University of Washington, "The popularity of the Big Apple in America indicates a red blooded race above all, and it is probable that such a dance could have originated in no other country that is considered civilized."

A good idea comes from California where a group has organized under the name of Vacations, Inc. to promote longer vacations for students.

The universal outing club prayer appeared in the "Banter":
Now I lay me down to sleep.
Pray the Lord the snow to keep,
But if it melts before I wake—
Heck—I always fall anyway.

Dear Mr. Floberg,
Don't take me seriously about your column. — N. Bonaparte, Worcester Sanitarium.

Just to let you in on a little secret, material for writing a Purple Pennings column is about as prevalent as consistency in New England weather, which after all isn't very consistent as you plaintive New Yorkers will admit, so Editor Dunican has decided to introduce a "Letters to the Editor" feature which will give you fellows, you garrulous ones, the chance to propound your opinions possibly to get your name in the TOMAHAWK and unequivocally to aid us in filling this very large space. Come on, you critics, you sporting pundits, you masters of the pen, give us your opinions on sports on the Hill. Just address your correspondence to the Sporting Editor, lower Loyola, the floor above the cage, and he will give it due consideration.

The freshmen obviously take their running seriously, or else everyone is laboring under a delusion or something. The glamor of New York, the emotion-evoking place that everyone seems to go to in his life, the big crowd didn't bother the medley relay. They, my friends — special word to the roommates — are the best freshman relay team in the country. They ran away from everyone else. They ran as easily and won as convincingly as War Admiral. (Incidentally fellows it is rumored that Joe McGahan has been cleaning up on these races of late.) In special recognition, however, this contingent, who wear the spangles of the yearlings, are a sensational crew. Keep running away from them, gang.

The varsity was disappointing. Bart wouldn't say so, but he expected them to do better. Of course unfortunate things do happen even in track and the incident of baton passing between Scanlon and Dunphy can and should be passed over as just one of those unavoidable items. The twain didn't collaborate and cooperation in a mile relay is the essence of success. After all is said and done, after a comprehensive analysis of the team and its merits, we necessarily conclude that they don't fail very often.

Hugh Hayes Harlow, president of the Riding Club, announces that following the inspiring banquet held two weeks ago, the club will shortly take to the turf. The Spring-cleared bridle paths of Auburn will see many a Cross man cantering over their rural rills. This year has been by far the most active in the history of the club and for once it has done more riding than it has taken. Regrettable is it that we can't be represented by a polo team here on the Hill and if Harlow had his hope fulfilled such an organization would materialize. Anyway Hugh, you have instilled a new spirit into the Club.

The cage was busier this week than last. The batters, those fellows who managed to foul one now and then, presented themselves to Barry and asked for evaluation. A rookie outfielder might have a chance but the infield combination is quite certain even now. So, aspirants, tell Barry you can hit, then prove it to him, and you will have an outfield job waiting for you. Of course there is that little matter of convincing Barry that you can hit. Other than that it is fairly easy.

DIAMOND MEN ACTIVE

Indoor baseball practice no longer confines itself to battery workouts, for last week the call for all infield and outfield candidates was issued. Their activity has consisted for the most part in batting practice and in fielding ground balls from the bat of Coach Barry. With but about six weeks remaining before the opening game with the Red Sox, which unfortunately is scheduled during the Easter vacation, there is much to be done in rounding the squad into shape. Weather permitting, out-door practice will begin shortly.

C. Durand, '39

Much speculation is rife in reference to how the infield positions will be assigned. All of last year's regulars have returned with the exception of Joe Kelley, whose old position at shortstop may be filled by Dick Blasser, a sophomore. However it is quite possible that Piurek might again take over that position instead of first base.

Pete Dowd and Joe Conway will be missed in the outfield, but Ouellette and Bracken, not to mention several of the promising sophomore stars, should make a well-balanced combination.

Those who reported for the infield and outfield tryouts are:

Infielders, Brucato, Piurek, Blasser, Durand, Burns, Cahill, Holst, Murray, Mara, Hazel, Duplessis, Bartolomeo, Corkery and Ouimet.

Outfielders, Bracken, Ouellette, O'Neil, McAuliffe, Snay, Lee, Dwyer, Giardi and McAvoy.

Football Squads To Work Out

Within a few weeks, Captain Bill Osmanski will report to the locker room in lower Alumni and don his football uniform for the first time as leader of the Purple Crusaders. As the team is faced with a hard schedule, the coaches will endeavor to lay the basis for the 1938 Crusader attack in the Spring session.

Doc Anderson's biggest worry will be the finding of replacements to man the positions vacated by Ed O'Melia, Bill Shields, Bill Collins, Bob Mautner, Jim Bowman, and Chesty Carr. The end and guard position will most probably be filled by men coming up from the freshman squad. Joe Delaney probably will fit into Shields' tackle position. Last Fall, Joe turned in some excellent performances at the tackle post before he was injured. The center position will be a difficult one to fill. However, we have learned that Tullio and Titus, both members of last year's squad,

Undeclared Freshman Quartet Wins I. C. 4A Medley Relay Title

Varsity Four Shut Out In Mile Relay Title Quest

In a meet which caused Crusader hopes to glimmer early in the evening, only to have them soar to the heights in the yearling events, and then to fade for good in the main event of the evening, the Holy Cross Track forces were unable to chalk up a single point in the annual I.C.4-A. Track Meet at New York. The Class of 1941 entered a sterling medley relay team, which brought honor upon honor to its Alma Mater by running the fastest time of the night in its race, the I.C.4-A. Freshman medley relay. By winning this race, the Freshman unit, which was composed of Tommy Cunningham, Johnny Wallace, Charley O'Donnell, and Jack Haley, received the coveted title of the fastest first-year medley team in the country. Their time for the race, which falls short of two miles by 220 yards was 7 minutes and 45 seconds. Tommy Cunningham led off, and, after a poor start, smashed his way to about a twenty-five yard lead. Johnny Wallace and Charley O'Donnell both increased this lead to about forty yards. Then came one of the finest-run legs of the night with Jack Haley, the Crusader miler performing.

Jack ran a beautiful race, easing at the beginning and waiting until proper time to sprint. At the lap, he had a sensational "kick" which carried him past three contenders a lap, and allowed him to win handily over the Pennsylvania and Boston College Freshmen by about two yards.

Now, as to the Varsity, we look with gloom. This was a far different story. As to the individual tries, Jimmy Stanton in the mile, Bill Gallogly in the weight, Bill could not quite make the grade as he dropped out of the picture in the afternoon trials, when he placed seventh with only six qualifying in the finals. Jimmy Stanton ran a mile out of a field of sixteen starters in the night's final in a slow 4:19.40 won by Peter Bradley of Princeton.

The Varsity Mile Team was the disappointment of the night as far as Holy Cross is concerned. In the afternoon trials, with fifteen teams competing, the Crusaders managed to qualify for the Finals, which was made up of six teams. Running in fourth position in the qualifying trials, Al "Bucky" Bates turned in a poor place and leg to just squeeze into the final and qualify for the evening event.

In the finals, vying against Harvard, New York University, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island State, and Manhattan, the Cross was the victim of a very tough break when Captain Scanlon and Don Dunphy were involved in the dropping of the baton at the beginning of the second lap. Up to this time, the purple-clad Crusaders had been very much in the running. This unfortunate calamity in the Cross several yards, which were never able to cut down. Frank Blanchfield and Bucky Bates ran fast legs, but not good enough to pass the other five teams. Thus the Crusaders closed the evening by being shut out completely in the feature event. However, the competition in this event was very keen, considering such a low time as 4:19.40.

as Jimmy Lightbody, Jimmy Herbert, Johnny Woodruff, and Howie Bouie were entered as rival anchor men. This New York University was the big surprise of the Games with its second place in the relay, as almost all its members had run a couple of races previously. Jimmy Herbert and Ed Stripling were both entered in the 600, and the team had run its heat in the afternoon in very fast time.

Scanlon And Bates To Run Final Relay Race In Casey Meet

The last act of the recent track season flashes across the stage of sports next Saturday, when the New York K. of C. runs its annual meet at the Garden. Noteworthy as the denouement of a grand and record-breaking year on the boards, however to us here on the Hill, there is a far greater observation to be made as the team from Mr. St. James steps upon the boards for the last time this season. It will be the last appearance of two of the finest runners that have ever ripped up splinters for Bart. Captain Larry Scanlon and Al Bates make their final bow as members of a Holy Cross mile quartet.

Let us for a moment review the accomplishments of these two men. As a freshman, Larry set a new N. E.

Captain Scanlon

L. C. A. 300-yard record, which was an accomplishment which served as a fore-runner of what was to follow. Making the mile relay as a sophomore he has continued to hold up his quarter now for three years. This winter, as captin and anchor-man Larry has proven himself to be a leader as well as carving for himself a niche in the hall of Cross runners whose names will long outlive their day here on the Hill.

A familiar sight on the campus is that of Larry and Al walking to and from classes. These two are as inseparable on the track as off. Like mile relay in all three years of his varsity competition. Running anchor in thrilling races of the season when he matched Howie Borck of Manhattan for stride in their quarter. This year as usual, he has contributed in no small measure to the success of the Purple's club.

Also, it would not be out of order to extend our congratulations to Don Dunphy and Frank Blanchfield of this year's relay team. These two will carry on the spirit and experience which they gathered from running on the same team with Bates and Scan-

So with our thanks and well-wishes ringing in their ears, we send Larry and Al off on their last endeavor on the boards. May they fare as well in their coming Saturday as they have in their other races, this season and in years past. May they make their exit as they entered, arm in arm, with all the glories and praise which they so richly deserve.

SOPHS GAIN CHARMS

During the recent, brief reign of King Winter over Freshman Field a hasty bit of action took place, out of which emerged a husky, smiling group of Sophomores with the Intra-mural Hockey title tucked away in their ice-caked pockets.

Sweeping all before them, the speedy, hard-driving Sophs decisively subdued all competition in the four-team league. Playing clean and skillful hockey, featured by a fast-breaking attack, combined with a smashing defense this tough Alumni squad deservedly gained the coveted Intra-mural charms, symbolic of victory. The following are the members of the team, all of whom have been awarded the charm.

Charles M. Callahan, Joseph G. Callahan, John S. Cullen, J. Earle Decker, Philip G. Flavin, Joseph G. Galligan, George M. Herlihy, William J. Histen, Charles J. Kickham, Bernard F. LaBran, John F. LaMothe, William H. McKenna, Robert P. O'Reilly and James J. Turner.

INTRAMURALS IN FULL SWING

Inasmuch as we have been unable to print as much Intramural news as has been the custom in other years, we are taking the opportunity now to pass over briefly the year's progress in the world of Intramural activities. Early in the fall, Fr. Maurice Dullea, Intramural Faculty Director, opened what turned out to be one of the most successful football seasons in the history of Intramurals at Holy Cross. With several fine teams competing, the "Big Dorm" team, an octet composed mostly of veterans of other years, barely squeezed into the championship. It was a close race right down to the final whistle, with hard, sportsmanlike play marking each and every battle.

At about the same time, the annual Fall Tennis Tournament was taking place, with the yearlings entering a record number. This tournament lasted for about four weeks, with many close battles being waged.

For the last three months, basketball the most popular of all intramural sports, holding sway. Three teams — Loyola I, Alumni II, and O'Kane V had been carrying on a merry battle until the last week, when the Frosh lost one tilt, and the Sophs went down to defeat at the hand of the "Big Dorm" and Loyola I. Thus at the present writing, Loyola leads the league.

In other years ping-pong, pool and bridge tournaments have been conducted around this period of the winter, but this season it does not look as if the "indoor addicts" will be able to show "their wares." Although not quite as popular as last year, swimming has been "going strong" down at the Worcester Boys' Club every Monday and Thursday afternoon. Later on in the year, the annual inter-class meet will be held, with the team prize of a "free night" to the winning class. This meet was last year won by the class of 1940.

Intramuralites

Frank Young, '41

With the enthusiasm which was shown at the Loyola I and Alumni II ball game the other night, it is quite evident that a varsity team would certainly "catch on." Both teams had many supporters, with cheers resounding after each point was scored. Incidentally, Clyt Theriault and Rigo LaTanzi did a fine job of officiating.

The Seniors had better get a little practice in the art of making foul shots. They missed something like twelve in the course of the game. In a tight ball game it will prove most costly, if they fail to improve in this respect.

Osborne had a big day for himself by swishing the nets to the tune of seventeen points. McCauliff of Worcester Sophs obtained high scoring honors for the week by scoring twenty points against Alumni V. He just couldn't miss.

O'Kane V were eyeing Loyola I very intently the other night. Captain Al Baniewicz was jotting down notes through the entire game. They are scheduled to compete against each other this coming Saturday at 4:15. Don't miss the "battle of the year." It should prove interesting to watch Mal Malinoski tangle with Bob Osborne.

Isn't anyone going to stick up for George Foster? In the game with Fenwick, he was referred to as the "little man." Nary a fist was clenched or a voice raised in protest. You don't have to take that stuff George, because there is always Jack Walsh to look down upon.

DON'T FORGET YOUR DATE SATURDAY AT 4:15. Refrain from your movie until after supper.

Sports Survey

Leo H. Leary, '40

As usual, when we hear sounds of action from the cage, as Jack Barry's men work out, there always arises the question of "what has happened to his proteges of last year?" From the news at hand, we see that a Crusade of another year, and at present a veteran of the Red Sox, Gene Desautels, will have some fellow Crusaders joining him this coming season. Roy Bruinghaus, one of the stand-bys of the pitching staff of last year's nine, has joined the mound-men of the Red Sox at Sarasota. Joe Kelley, captain of last year's team, is at Moultrie, Georgia, and Al Jarlett, the "Dizzy" Dean of last year's club, is at Rocky Mount, South Carolina. Since these both are Red Sox farms, you might see in coming years an entire Purple battery with another Cross man at short.

With the advent of Spring upon the Hill, Coach Donnelly of the Cross Golf Team starts preparing for another season on the links. As a nucleus of this year's club, he has some recognized "greats" in the Golf World and some up-and-coming possibilities. Willie Turnesa, the Captain of this year's club, holder of the New England Intercollegiate Golf crown, as well as being eleventh ranking Amateur in the Country, heads the luminaries of the team. Gerry Anderson, former New England Junior Champion, is a veteran of last year's group, which won such renown, and is returning to support Turnesa. "Pat" Hayes, well-known

BASKETBALL HIGHLIGHTS

The Intramural enthusiasts were privileged to witness one of the most thrilling games ever contested on the Hill in the Loyola I, Alumni II fracas. The Seniors with a seemingly do or die attitude, emerged the victor, 33-26. Bob Osborne was "hot" all night. He was the spark-plug of the Senior quintet as proved by his 17 point total for the evening. Other standouts for Loyola were Zintl and Donahue.

The Alumni offense was greatly weakened by the loss of an important cog in their machinery, O'Hare. O'Hare received a knee injury in the third quarter. Alumni's Medford really got going in the second half but in spite of his effort Alumni was still unable to cope with the court magic of the Seniors.

The other highlight of the week, a similarly exciting game, was the Alumni I-O'Kane V affair. The powerful freshman quintet just managed to come out on top by the very slim margin of one point. Caution, close guarding and low scoring characterized the game. The "Wild horse" of Alumni, Hank Giardi, certainly went on a rampage. He was all over the court playing equally as well on the offense as on the defense. He was high man for Alumni denting the net five times on unbelievable long shots.

the paper, handling all feature stories. All headlines are written by the News Board and members of the board will act as a re-casting staff, and will rewrite and revise all articles done for the paper.

Included in the list are Victor G. Schlitzer, a candidate for the managership of the varsity baseball team, Fred Shea, a lecture debater and one of the participants in the Philomath debate against Fordham a few weeks ago, John Beakey, Treasurer of the Sophomore class and Aloysius Bloniarz, a member of the Musical clubs.

Other members of the staff include

Robert Pollock, who transferred to the Cross in September from St. Peter's College in New Jersey and has been an outstanding member of the Philomathic Debating Society, John Segerson, a member of the Musical clubs and the Purple Crusaders, Leo

A. Leary, a member of the Sophomore Prize Debating team, Joseph Dondanville, a member of the Philomath and Jerome Mack and Cornelius Gahagan, members of the History Academy and the Cross and Scroll Club. Thomas McKone is a member of the Business Staff of the "Purple." J. Richard Curley and James Coffey are both in the Debating Society and are Section A men and Murtha Lawrence is a member of the Varsity Track Team and a most valuable and loyal member of the Tomahawk.

Candid camera friends, attention! Here is a chance to put your efforts to a practical value. The opportunity that comes but once a year is slipping away fast. The dead-line for formal shots for the Patcher is now. Bring all such shots to Loyola 43.
